

From: Town of Bellingham 300th Anniversary Committee

Date: May 31, 2018

Dear Friends of Bellingham.

As you may already know, the Town of Bellingham turns 300 years old in 2019! The anniversary committee has started planning a number of exciting events that will be spread throughout all of next year for a year-long celebration. The executive board members consist of: Jennifer Altomonte as Chairperson; Bernadette Rivard as Treasurer; Sarah Houle as Secretary; Christine Cooper as Publicist Coordinator; and Joseph Lyons as Volunteer Coordinator.

Some of the many events already in the works for next year include a New Year's event spanning from December 31, 2018 to January 1, 2019, a Bellingham Old Homes Day Festival consisting of several activities throughout a weekend in July, 2019, a Story Tale Door Scavenger Hunt, and a town-wide Pub Crawl in the fall. There are many other ideas being worked out that will draw from all ages and interests as well as from all corners of our town: big and little events, family friendly, adults only, fundraising and activities that are free of charge!

The Committee is open to any resident(s) interested in coordinating or volunteering at events. We are also looking for businesses who want to volunteer their services, or any person or business who wants to make a donation in any way - big or small. Donations will go towards expenses to make these plans a reality.

What are some ways you can get involved?

- Find and 'like' the "Town of Bellingham 300th Anniversary" Facebook page
- Watch on the town website for calendar and event updates
- Attend the next meeting at the Bellingham Library community room on June 27 at 6:30
- Email the committee to discuss contributions at bellingham300@gmail.com
- Complete this form with a specific event idea: <https://goo.gl/Lyi63b> (case sensitive)

We look forward to partnering with you for this momentous occasion!

Christine Cooper
Executive Board Member
